

Department of Kinesiology

Criteria for Admission to the Allied Health Professions Fall 2016

The concentration in Allied Health Professions (AHP) is for students interested in eventual graduate education in allied health professions (viz., physical therapy, occupational therapy, physician's assistant, medical or dental school) after graduation from CSUSB. CSUSB Kinesiology AHP students will engage in a rigorous course of study in Kinesiology, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. This concentration offers undergraduate students essential prerequisite courses for eventual graduate study in a preferred AHP. Students are strongly encouraged to review admission requirements at accredited universities to which they may apply for specific allied health professions graduate program.
